PREFACE

This Bibliography attempts to include all works of professional interest published in America or by Americans anywhere during 1959, in the entire field of Slavic and East European studies. The Bibliography for 1956 covered thoroughly only the humanities. The Bibliography for 1957 was expanded to cover the social sciences as well as the humanities, because of the strong feeling expressed by many specialists and by editors of learned journals, not only in the social sciences but also in the humanities, that there should be a thorough annual American bibliography of Slavic and East European studies. The Bibliography for 1957 was so well received that it was decided that the Bibliography for 1958, the Bibliography for 1959, and subsequent annual Bibliographies would continue to cover both the social sciences and the humanities in the Slavic and East European field.

Scope. The Bibliography lists books and articles, but not reviews, unless the review is substantial enough to be considered an independent article. Belles-lettres are included only in cases of scholarly or textbook editions. "America" for the purposes of this Bibliography includes all the Americas, and "Americans" includes not only all who have permanent residence in this hemisphere, but also specialists who taught or resided here during 1959.

Use of the Bibliography. All books and articles listed were published during 1959, unless there is a specific indication otherwise. Numerals in square brackets [ ] refer to item numbers in this Bibliography. Authors are indexed under an Anglicized transliteration when such a transliteration appears in the Bibliography proper. The Bibliography has been divided into eleven different major topics or disciplines, with some combinations for convenience. As the Table of Contents shows, for the social sciences individual countries are treated under each major heading in a sequence beginning with the Soviet Union and proceeding in an arc from Finland to Greece and Albania; for the humanities, classification is by language family, going from Slavic to Baltic, to Other Indo-European, and ending with Non-Indo-European.

Latin-alphabet spellings in titles have been strictly followed, though this has resulted (e.g., with Dostoevskij) in a number of different spellings of names in the text. Titles of books and articles in Cyrillic have been transliterated using the system followed in The Slavic and East European Journal, Harvard Slavic Studies, and Indiana Slavic Studies. Titles in languages other than English are given in translation only when this translation appears on or opposite the title page or contents page of the work. The technical style of the Bibliography follows that of the Annual Bibliographies of the Publications of the Modern Language Association of America.

Abbreviations. The list of Abbreviations (pp. xiii-xv below) includes only abbreviations actually used in this Bibliography. Abbreviations have been used only for periodicals and series which are represented by a considerable number of entries in this or previous annual Bibliographies. The titles of all other periodicals and series are given in full upon each appearance. Thus the list of Abbreviations is in no sens a list of periodicals searched.

Collaborators. This Bibliography has been made possible by the co-operation of a committee of thirteen collaborators, with the followi areas of responsibility:

Geography: Norman J. G. Pounds, Indiana University
Anthropology: Dorothy Libby, Indiana University
Law: Serge L. Levitsky, Fordham University
Economics: George G. S. Murphy, Stanford University
Linguistics and Literature:
Slavic in Canada: J. B. Rudnyćkyj, University of Manitoba
Russian and Polish articles: Zbigniew Folejewski, University of Wisconsin
Ukrainian: J. B. Rudnyćkyj, and Jurij Fedynskyj, Indiana University
Other Slavic and Baltic: Anthony Salys, University of Pennsylvania
Albanian: Eric P. Hamp, University of Chicago
Yiddish: Edward Stankiewicz, Indiana University
Philosophy and Religion: George L. Kline, Bryn Mawr College

The Editors are responsible for the remainder of the areas cove in the Bibliography.

Future Bibliographies. It is requested that specialists send to M Shaw reprints, copies of publications, and bibliographical information about their 1960 publications, for inclusion in the next Bibliography. It is particularly urged that American scholars report their publicatio abroad. If specialists will notify Mr. Shaw of any inadvertent omissio of items which should have been included in this Bibliography, they wil be included next year, with notation of the proper publication date. Bibliographical data sent should be complete and accurate and in the form used in this Bibliography.

Not only do many non-American scholars and specialists publish in America and hence come under the scope of this Bibliography, but many residents of America publish abroad. This latter group have often been difficult to identify with assurance. It will be appreciated if any errors of inclusion—or of any other kind—will be called to the attention of Mr. Shaw. If a scholar prefers a particular Anglicized spelling of his name, this spelling will be used henceforth in the Index, if he will inform the Editors.

The Editors acknowledge with gratitude the support of the Indiana University Slavic and East European Institute and the Editorial Commit tee of the Graduate School Slavic and East European Series, who made possible the compiling and publication of this Bibliography. They woul also like to thank each of the collaborators, and also Professor Geo. Winchester Stone, Jr., Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association of America, for making it possible to include the listings which have already appeared in the PMLA "1959 Annual Bibliography." In addition, the committee would like to express thanks to those members of the profession who sent journals, books, reprints of articles, and bibliographical data for inclusion, and also to Thomas J. Noonan of Indiana University, who provided invaluable assistance. The Editors shared the responsibilities of setting up the guide lines for the Bibliography, general classifications, and policies for inclusion. Mr. Shaw undertook the tasks of final classification and of seeing the Bibliography through the press.
